What a breath-taking sight

Our cover picture shows Sgt. Price of 47 Cartographic Squadron positively identifying the position of the wooden beacon on air photographs. The beacon position, together with that of similar beacons, whose positions are all known, will be used to control the plotting of the map to be made by viewing the air photographs stereoscopically in a plotting machine at the Survey Centre at Barton Stacey. 47 Cartographic Squadron, who are part of 42 Survey Engineer Regiment, have recently been carrying out a mapping task in the Norwegian mountains.
